[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

EASTERN DATES TO MAY 24.

THE CIVIL WAR IN FRANCE

Final Overthrow of the Commune.

ST DENIS—Tuesday Afternoon —Fighting in Paris has ceased

Marshal McMahon and President Thiers will enter Paris to morrow

The losses of the Communists are fearful The troops gave no quarter.

Many leaders of the Commune were captured and immediately shot

Details of the Collapse

LONDON, May 23 —A special correspondent at Paris, Monday, telegraphs that on yesterday afternoon the insurgents were driven from Chateau de la Muette They subsequently rallied and held the enceinte with considerable tenacity and were finally driven back with severe loss by a heavy fire from the Versailles battalions

At 9 o'clock, Dombrowski, under cover of two guns, charged the Cemetery des Pauvres He was met by a firm and withering fire, and the insurgent lines became broken and disordered However, they again attempted to storm the Cemetery and hand to hand fighting followed, but a report that Dombrowski was killed, caused the insurgents to become panic stricken

A pause of a few hours succeeded, when suddenly batteries on the hill opened on the enceinte and railway and showers of shell and a hail of musketry poured on it The insurgents essayed a feeble reply Suddenly heavy firing from the north was heard, a mad panic ensued, arms and packs were thrown away, and all bolted. Officers were unable to stem the tide Shot and shell struck the troops, and they in the extremity of panic and fear, blazed away indiscriminately and struck each other with their clubbed rifles As the tide of fugitives swept along, relieving battalions came up, increasing the panic The fire of the Versaillists reached Trocadero Avenue and it is believed to Arc de Triomphe

The Communists showed themselves behind a big barricade in Place de la Concorde, but did not fire The Versaillists' battery below the Arch swept Champs Elysees The Versaillists paused in Avenue Fredland to open a space at the top of Boulevard Haussmann where they could sweep Boulevard Malesherbes to Madeleine and open the way to Rue Royal

WASHINGTON CITY

The Treaty of Washington.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Senate was occupied six hours with the treaty of Washington Nearly all the time was occupied by Casserly, who examined the treaty in all its aspects, and particularly in relation to international law, making elaborate quotations from Vattel and other writers on that subject He would reserve his judgment until the question of ratification should require him to express it by his vote

It was the intention of several Senators yesterday to ask final action on the treaty to-day, even if an extra session should be required for that purpose, but after sitting till nearly 5 o'clock and no probability of concluding the subject, an adjournment until to morrow took place, and it is now uncertain whether a vote will be reached before Thursday. Corbett, of Oregon, will address the Senate to morrow

EASTERN STATES.

The Commissioners to Sail for England.

NEW YORK, May 23 —The High Commissioners sail for England on the Cuba to morrow, unless the steamer is detained by orders from Washington

New Hampshire Politics

CONCORD, N H, May 23 —The Governor and Council in session to day examined the vote for Senators They found no choice in three districts In other districts five Republicans and five Democrats were found to be elected and notified accordingly

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24 —G Newman, assistant architect of the new City Hall, was found dead in his bed at the Occidental Hotel to day, having shot himself through the head with a revolver He had been under a physician's charge some days, and on Tuesday he intimated a desire to end his nervous sufferings by suicide

Among the passengers west from Ogden to day are Wm Beck and wife Mrs Louisa Beck and Master Geo A Beck, of Portland, Oregon, and Mrs Washburn and two children, of Washington Territory

Anti-Infallibility

DR. DOLLINGER AND THE PROFESSORS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ROME

The following is a translation of an address from the Professor of the University of Rome to the Capitulary Provost, Dr Ignatius Dollinger, Professor of Ecclesiastical History, and Dean of the Faculty of Theology at the University of Munich

The strife which, in order not to fail in the most sacred duties of your character as ecclesiastic, of science as theologian and historian, of morality as citizen, you have been unable to refuse, and which has been imposed upon you by men who, unfaithful to their own convictions and declarations solemnly proclaimed in the last Council, have preferred to be your persecutors rather than to unite themselves to you in order that they might save the immunity of their episcopal rights, and give their testimony to Christian truth—this strife, from the high principles that are in question, and from the consequences that may issue from it in a near future has attracted toward you the attention and the good will of all those who, standing within or without the Church are convinced that a work of moral regeneration and conciliation is now necessary in Europe. The Catholic Church, which, from the universality of her conception, from her painful but not always unmerited historical experiences and from the urgent necessities of the present, should have felt more than ever the need of unity, has through the recent definitions of the Vatican Council, and through the worldly ambition of returning that which, imposed on her as a historical necessity from the conditions of the life of the middle ages, is now of evident and serious prejudice to her divine mission—divided herself from the laity, from the best and the most learned of her Bishops from the nations and States of Europe from science and from civilization.

It is impossible that this division can be the legitimate consequence of religious and Christian principles It is also impossible that European society, which, in its adhesions and even in its resistances of eighteen centuries, has nevertheless always approached nearer toward morality and Christian ideality can have become all at once incapable of exercising its noblest instincts, and, suddenly perverted, can have renounced all the principles of its historical and moral development In the first place, one would be obliged to say that religion is impossible and contrary to humanity, and in the second, that Providence does not exist We, on the contrary, believe that there is nothing more human than religion and that Providence, however considered and however defined, is a law, the historical reality of which it is impossible to doubt

The reason of the present perturbation of souls is not to be sought for in the fundamental conception of civil society, nor in that of the religious institution but in certain tendencies which became prevalent in the Romish Church after the Council of Trent The German separation of the sixteenth century, which, in the opinion of the Church of Rome, was an evil and an unpardonable rebellion, had, nevertheless one consequence namely, her reform—among many others that even the aforesaid Church, which continued, not in the ancient and original sense, but from opposition to the dissentient Churches, to call herself Catholic, must confess to have been for her a great benefit

This reform, which, if anticipated, as some of the Cardinals and Italian Bishops then wished, would have prevented a separation, was the consequence of the German reform The Catholic and Evangelical Churches are, since the sixteenth century, reformed Churches In the conception and fact of reform lay, therefore, the future of religious unity in Europe But the indispensable condition of this possible result was, necessarily, sincerity of purpose and unlimited devotion without other aim than the religious idea Now instead, after three centuries of historic progress, the two churches are more than ever divided one from the other, and the separation is irreconcilable

We do not wish to enter into the history of the Evangelical Church, but only briefly to indicate some facts for which, according to us, the Romish Church is responsible toward the Gospel and toward the Christian conscience. The reform of the Romish Church was, from its commencement, exclusive and exterior The great aspirations of the preceding centuries, issuing from the university of the Christian idea, and from the constant and living communion of the Church with society, were speechless before the fear of the boldness and unshakable firmness of the German reform Instead of placing once more the Gospel in the hearts of the people reviving teaching and tradition with the concurrence of the laity, the book was closed with seven seals and for the laical co operation was substituted that of religious corporations, and particularly that of the Jesuits The Catholic Church has been for three centuries the Company of Jesus

Against this servitude, against this sacrifice of intellect, as the Jesuits, with malignant humility, now call it, all the Catholic thinkers protested, and still protest, from Pascal to Rosmini and Gioberti, and to you who now raise the cry of injured and betrayed Catholicity before the doors of the Vatican Council

We Italians have suffered much from this enslaving of intellect With very few exceptions all the Episcopacy calling itself Italian, because it inhabits our country, was an instrument of the Jesuits in the Vatican Council. But the events that have conducted us to Rome, although they have not yet served any other purpose save that of leaving civil societies defenseless before the artifices and corruption of the Roman Curia, counseled and governed by the Jesuits, ought, nevertheless, to be for us a great occasion of moral reform

All the signs of a dying life will soon be erased by those of a new life, blooming from the finally achieved unity of our country

We remember that, in the midst of the immobility of the Jesuit schools, an Italian discovered the movement of the earth, and that when the Catholic Church was profaned in the whole of its hierarchy the ideal of our art was the transfigured Christ

And these remembrances are auspices that cannot fail We are convinced that our right to Rome will not be incontestable and definite until that day in which we have transformed and renewed our moral conscience

For these reasons we hail your utterances with great hope, and offer our best wishes for the triumph of your cause, which is also ours, and that of the whole of Christian civilization And this we say to you publicly, in order that in your free and just judgment you may in the future separate all responsibility of the Italian people from that of the Italian Episcopacy

The Episcopacy inhabiting our land is without country, and has nothing in common with the Italian people. The Syllabus, the Infallibility, Papal autocracy, all these negations of human and divine reason, form a system without the slightest connection with the Roman character and thought. The servitude of intellect, abhorred by the Germanic race, is equally abhorred by the Roman, that is, Italian race Italian morality is no longer what it was in the sixteenth century, and now we know that the hour has come when the cause of reform should be fought and won by the two united nations—the Italians and the Germans

New and Grand Railroad Combination.

[From the Sacramento Union, May 15]

We have what we deem reliable information that there will be a new railroad incorporation formed in San Francisco next week for the purpose of building a road 1,000 miles in length, to connect the California Pacific with the Holladay Oregon road and with the Union Pacific Our informant says the new combination is to be in the interest of the following companies Pennsylvania Central, Pittsburg and Fort Wayne, Chicago and Northwestern, Union Pacific, Holladay's Oregon Company, and the California Pacific He also says "the Rothschilds and others have agreed to furnish all the necessary capital, and no bonds or subsidies, national or local, will be called for"

The western starting point is Davisville, Yolo county, to run northwards to Goose Lake, near the northeastern corner of California, and partly in Oregon, thence north east to Christmas lakes, Oregon, where the junction will be formed with Holladay's road coming from the Willamette valley and Portland, thence due east along the plateau south of Snake river to the point of junction with the Union Pacific at the northern extremity of Salt Lake. We are not advised of the precise route the road will take through the Sierra Nevada It may choose between three passes The best of these is doubtless Beckwourth s Pass, which at its greatest elevation is less than 5 000 feet above tide water Fredonyer s Pass is north of Beckwourth's, and Noble s still north of Fredonyer's The latter has an elevation of over 6,000 feet. It would give the shortest route from Davisville to Goose Lake, and allow the road to traverse the whole extent of Sutter and Butte counties, debouching into the Great Basin at Eagle Lake There is a vast extent of first class agricultural country east of the Sierra Nevada, from Honey Lake to Christmas Lakes, and the local trade would soon make that part of the road profitable as, in fact, will it make the whole line profitable from the Christmas Lakes to Salt Lake

Forming an easy connection with the Northern Pacific Railroad the Holladay branch and the Union Pacific will find their actual northwestern terminus on Puget Sound, while the Union Pacific's through cars will also have a depot at Vallejo The running time over the new route is likely to be the quickest from ocean to ocean

Years ago the Union drew attention to this sort of a railway system as the surest means of compelling the monopoly to do a fair business and we are now in the way of realizing our dream Let us hope it may bring with it that general prosperity which all good men desire for the State of California and the whole Pacific coast

Report says 10,000 men will be put to work on this new road within sixty days and that its completion is to be hastened with all possible dispatch

There is an energy in the keeping of boarding houses in Arkansas quite unknown in the North The proprietor of a private hostelry in a town of that State having heard frequent complaints from his boarders about the frequent recurrence of hash, prepared himself to crush the rebellious spirit At the next morning meal he placed two revolvers beside his plate and remarked Whoever says he doesn't like hash dies He then began distributing hash, and no man declined it

THE LARGEST CIRCULATION —The Philadelphia Ledger is said to have a daily circulation of 76,000,000, which a Chicago paper declares is the largest daily circulation obtained by any paper in America. The London Telegraph circulates 190,000 copies daily.

LAST NIGHT'S DISPATCHES.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN]

THE CIVIL WAR IN FRANCE.

The Fighting not yet Ended.

LONDON, May 24 —The Strasbourg [illegible] terminus has been carried Thiers is [illegible] able in direction of operations, and is [illegible] commissariat.

Foreign powers have ordered Paris [illegible] representatives not to protect the insurgents It is said Washburne did not act in conjunction with other representatives.

OUTSIDE PARIS, May 24, 4 M —The [illegible] of Belleville hold out, but the insurgents are discouraged The Versaillists losses are heavy [illegible] is hoped everything will terminate to day

More Vandalism.

VERSAILLES May 24 —The Louvre and Tuileries are burning. The Reds ignited them with petroleum

Dombrowski is wounded and captured.

We dislodged the Federals from Faubourg, Germain and elsewhere, continuing the victorious march It is thought the Reds will attempt to escape towards Belleville Pantin Crowds of uniformless, repulsive looking prisoners are coming in

VERSAILLES, May 24 —The insurgents fired the Palace Legion of Honor, Council of State, and others

Fumes of smoke from petroleum pervade the city.

LONDON, May 24 —Berlin journals of the 21st say, Favre demanded of the Commune the surrender of the Nationals implicated in the attack on Washburne's hotel Grousset replied that he had ordered a court martial of the culprits, but they had fled He could only express sorrow and indignation

OUTSIDE PARIS, May 24, 1 P M.—A terrible explosion just occurred in the centre of Paris, probably at the Hotel de Ville

Fighting Recommenced.

ST DENIS, May 21 —After a brief lull fighting, in Paris, recommenced yesterday continuing all night The troops of Douay and Vinoy surrounded the Tuileries, the Louvre and Place Vendome, and a desperate fight followed, the Federals disputing every inch of the way At daylight the positions still remained in the hands of the Federals. The Tuileries is seriously damaged by shells A combined assault by all the troops is now going on

Palace of the Tuileries Burned

VERSAILLES, May 24 —The Palace of the Tuileries is entirely burned down. It is hoped that the Louvre Galleries may be saved.

Postage from Germany

BERLIN, May 24 —The Reichstag has passed a supplementary clause to the postal treaty between America and Germany Letters henceforth are to be forwarded to and from America for two and a half groschen.

EASTERN STATES

The New York Custom House

NEW YORK, May 24 —Rumors of the removal of Collector Murphy are renewed by Washington correspondents The Herald correspondent says Murphy has tendered his resignation on account of political reasons and the President has accepted it, giving him the privilege of naming his successor It is stated that Murphy has named Gen C A Arthur, and the nomination was made out yesterday

Dispatch from Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 24 —Lieut Gen Sheridan and Gen Forsyth arrived here last evening, both in excellent health

The Legislature of Illinois meets at Springfield to day, in extraordinary session. The question of removing the capital will excite the greatest interest

Insurance Matters

NEW YORK, May 24 —The National Convention of State Insurance Officers met to day. Nearly all the States were represented Hon E W Payne, of Maine, was appointed President, and H S Wolff, Secretary pro tem On roll call 18 States were found already represented. A permanent organization was formed, with George W Miller, of New York, President, Alfred Breeze, of Wisconsin, Vice President, and H A Smith, of New York, Secretary

WASHINGTON CITY

Proceedings in the Senate.

WASHINGTON May 24 —In the Senate this morning Presiding Officer Anthony presented the memorial of Flanagan, Henry Woodruff, Courtland Palmer and John McDonaldson, trustees of the Poultney National Bank stating that they have just claims to the amount of over a quarter of a million dollars against the Government of Venezuela, for losses occasioned by its failure to perform obligations and duties under certain grants relating to the construction of a railroad east from Caracas to Petare, and its wrongful and arbitrary acts in seizing, by military force, the materials They ask the Senate to give some one of its committees the power to send for persons and papers, and make an examination into the matter connected with the proceedings and delinquencies of the mixed commission, and report there [illegible]

The probability is that the Senate will remain in session to day until the treaty is voted on

The Senate confirmed the nomination of James R Partridge, of Maryland, to be Minister Plenipotentiary and Envoy Extraordinary to Brazil

CHEERFUL VIEW OF TAMMANY —The New York Tribune says This city is ruled by Tammany Hall. Every department of the municipal government furnishes one of Tammany s creatures with a place New buildings go up under their direction, streets are opened and closed at their demands the schools yield to their whims and wishes the taxes pass through or into their hands—in a word they are our masters And who are they? Who is Tammany Hall? The answer is found in another column, in the list of men who form the chief committee And a sorry answer it is for New York City It is destitute of all the names that should appear in such a position of power—names known and honored in literature in commerce and in the profession It presents only the names of municipal parasites, who suck their living from the plant they poison in the process, Aldermen voted into office by the Ring s money gamblers of open repute, loafers without a single calling to claim as their own And this committee it is which farms out the city offices, hangs swords of Damocles over judges and commissioners, bends every avenue of expenditure toward one coffer, and so domineers over the Island of Manhattan that suffrage has become a mockery and citizenship has lost its power

WHISKY, LAGER, OPIUM —Germany derives a great part of her revenue from lager beer. To destroy this resource in Bavaria would almost destroy the Government In 1869 '70 the United States drew into the treasury from the 50 cent per gallon whisky tax very nearly $50 000 000 No other single item produced nearly so much and no article of foreign import half as much It was $10,000,000 over one seventh of the total receipts from all sources, and paid nearly one fifth of the total expenses of the Government This year, owing to frauds on the revenue and the very extensive manufacture of a poor article of "red eye" out of a good quality of pure alcohol, the whisky tax receipts will run [illegible] is $40,000 000. But even this is more than any other item produces Lord Mayo the Governor General of India, in his last [illegible] to the local Legislature, [illegible] out a revenue from the opium trade of [illegible] 000 000 just about as much as the whisky consumers of the United States will pay this year on whisky, but there are [illegible] of the opium eaters, and vile is the quality of the whisky, gin and brandy our local manipulators of fancy brands concoct from pure alcohol for general poisoning purposes, we doubt if the opium eaters don t suffer the most for the tax they pay.

CURRENT NOTES

The death penalty has been abolished in Mexico, which [illegible] be a source of great satisfaction to the [illegible] of professional revolutionists thereabouts

The terrors of Paris are graphically pictured in a single line of cable dispatch in which it is stated that some of the avenues are lined with hearses

Indiana has at last heeded the earnest requests of her Governors and the demand of public opinion, and has modified her divorce laws The reform is not so general and thorough as it should have been, but it goes far enough to remove [illegible] what the scandal of Indiana law

The Ohio Legislature has prohibited by law any changes in the series of [illegible] in the public schools oftener than [illegible] years and permits it then only when [illegible] vote of two thirds of the school [illegible] Whether a total prohibition without the consent of a majority of the parents in [illegible] would not have been better is, perhaps, an open [illegible], but the legislators deserve credit for setting an example in the right direction

There are now 29 000 post offices in the United States The great increase of population in the western country demands the frequent establishment of new offices These are created as fast as the appropriations for the Post Office Department will admit Congress at [illegible] appropriated $5 000 000 for postal [illegible] Department finds that these [illegible] are being organized in such rapid succession as to indicate that the appropriation will be exhausted before the end of the next fiscal year

Numberless failures do not [illegible] individuals from risking their money in [illegible] paper adventures in New York [illegible] two weeklies and two monthlies have [illegible] a few days There are now [illegible] city, sixty nine political [illegible] fifty two religious thirty four literary [illegible] and one hundred and thirty three [illegible] by advertising agents as mere [illegible]—a total of 296 Unquestionably some of the [illegible] would better their prospects [illegible] to Florida, which State has no religious agricultural or daily journal

The Daily Oregonian.

THURSDAY MORNING, MAY 25, 1871.

Political Inklings.

An indication of the manner in which the Southern Democracy "accept the situation" is furnished by the Mobile Tribune, the great Democratic organ of the far South, which, to enlighten and strengthen the faithful, makes room each day for the Constitution of the United States, omitting, however, the XIIIth, XIVth, and XVth Amendments.

The Savannah Republican comes to the support of the Mobile Tribune by saying: "The new amendments to the Constitution are practically and utterly destructive of everything wearing the favor of States' rights. It therefore follows inevitably that no true Democrat can subscribe to the XIVth and XVth Amendments, or consent to accept them as irreversible facts. We defy any 'intermediate' to controvert either our premises or conclusions in this little argument."

The Albany Evening Journal observes that, "Two months ago, Gen. Grant was sharply criticised in some Republican quarters. To-day, much of this criticism is disarmed, and the President is unquestionably stronger both in the Republican party and before the people than he was then. The fact ought to warn against hasty and premature judgment. And there is the less reason for jumping to conclusions since the unmistakable drift of public opinion will at the proper time manifest itself, and relieve the politicians of much of the anxiety and responsibility with which they are burdened."

On the 17th inst. the Republican State Convention of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg, nominated a ticket and pronounced for Gen. Grant for re-election. The resolution in regard to the Administration was in these words: "Resolved, That the administration of President Grant meets the full approval of the Republican party of Pennsylvania; his financial policy by which the National debt is steadily reduced, the reduction in the expenditures of the Government, the honest collection of the revenues, the fidelity to the [illegible] of human rights through which [illegible] to all is to be secured in every part of [illegible] and his loyalty to the people in having [illegible] to enforce against their will, and [illegible] integrity of his administration, [illegible] continued confidence of all the American people, and point to him as an [illegible] leader of our party now, and the [illegible] standard-bearer for the Republican party in 1872."

[illegible] onnecticut Democrats made extraordinary [illegible] of themselves about the action of the [illegible] in counting the votes for Governor. A letter to the New York Tribune, dated May 9th says: "A New Haven paper [illegible] morning makes a bold threat of what [illegible] English will do,—first, that he will refuse to surrender the office, and second, that [illegible] fall back upon the valor of the Horse Guards. The Horse Guards are a formidable organization consisting of two companies, [illegible] like Cozzen's Home Guard in Yonkers, [illegible] never leave the State except in case of [illegible]. The bluster of Democratic prints [illegible] nobody any more than Eaton's threat [illegible] in 1861, when he said Massachusetts troops should not cross the soil of this State on their way to butcher our Southern brethren without passing over his dead body."

A Triumphant Argument.

[illegible] article from the pen of E. D. Mansfield [illegible] Ohio, one of the most noted economical writers and statisticians of the country, which [illegible] published yesterday, and in which free trade sophistry and errors are exposed and exploded, deserves special mention, and the facts [illegible] presents are worthy of close study. It is said by the freetraders and croaked by copperhead politicians that the wealth, industry and business of the country is declining [illegible] under the present system ruin [illegible] imminent and inevitable. Do the facts support [illegible] gloomy statements? The aggregate commerce of the country for the past year has been greater by twenty-five millions [illegible] than it was in 1859. Manufactures [illegible] every part of the country have [illegible] increased. We export now more [illegible] we did [illegible] 1860. From 1858 to 1860 the tonnage of vessels built in the United States, was [illegible] 779. For the like space of time ten years later, that is from 1868 to 1870, the tonnage of vessels built was 937,415,—an increase [illegible] 35 per cent. While our population, [illegible], has increased 23 per cent., our [illegible] commerce has increased 60 per [illegible] the same time, and the value of our [illegible] exports has trebled. During the [illegible] years the growth of internal industries has been nothing less than marvelous. [illegible] Mansfield points to Ohio, where manufacturing industry has doubled in ten years; [illegible] this is but one of the many States wherein [illegible] progress is to be observed.

[illegible] like these need only to be stated to [illegible] appreciated. The general prosperity of [illegible] country is a fact which no one can fail to [illegible], who keeps his eyes open. When it is apparent that we are cultivating more land, erecting more buildings, constructing more railroads, building more vessels, mining more coal, and silver, and gold, making more iron, producing more wool, manufacturing more cotton and woolen goods, turning out more machinery, making more agricultural implements, exporting more grain and other home products, and advancing all the time in general industry, which every one can see springing up in all directions and in every conceivable form, why should any person be so absurd and ridiculous as to pretend that national prosperity is declining, and prescribe free trade as a remedy? The country is prosperous now beyond all precedent, and the main secret of it is that we are living under a policy which develops our own industries by protecting and fostering both American labor and American capital.

The Commercial List of New York, a high authority, says that the questions pending in the Washington Treaty concerning the fisheries and navigation of the northern rivers, as well as those relating to trade in fish and oil between the two countries, require the consent of the Dominion Parliament and of the Legislature of Prince Edward's Island. But if these parts of the treaty should fail the remainder of the treaty would not be jeopardized on that account.

The Republican State Convention of California is to be held at Sacramento on the 28th June. Booth of Sacramento, and Mayor Selby of San Francisco, are the most prominent candidates for Governor. The Democratic State Convention will be held on the 20th June. San Francisco will have about one-third of the delegates in each Convention.

A Democratic paper says: "Look at the frightful taxation in South Carolina." Yes, taxation is heavy there; rebellion costs something.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—The tallow market is firm at 7½@8c, with sales for the week of about 30,000 lbs, within the range. Some parties quote higher figures, but we hear of no sales.

Grain, wool, etc, will be shipped here from the Australian Colonies for exhibition at the Mechanics' Fair, and Japan will send a large assortment of manufactured articles and a special delegation of Japanese to take notes.

A grand tabernacle tent for the Methodist camp meeting, brought from the East, is being erected on the corner of Stockton and Farrell streets, and will be opened to-morrow evening.

P. M. Bowen, of Bowen Brothers, had his leg broken by the breaking of the axle of the wagon in which he was riding, to-day.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—W. A. Spaulding of Sacramento, the clerk charged with forging the name of his late employers, Sharp & Co., has also been booked for grand larceny.

Newman, the young Englishman, assistant architect on the City Hall, who suicided last night, was undoubtedly prompted to the fatal act by long continued nervous excitement, for which medical advice failed to give any relief. His friends in New York have been telegraphed to and his remains will probably be sent east for interment.

Farrell, alias Shin Fain, the orator, who assaulted the Great Unknown, is out of jail, his wife having paid his fine.

Since the announcement that prosecutions would be commenced against the parties engaged in sending sanded wool to this market, the business has suddenly collapsed, and very few parcels of adulterated wool have been received within the past ten days.

The Moses Taylor carried quite a lot of farming implements and a fair miscellaneous cargo. She had one passenger for Sydney, five for Melbourne, seven for Auckland and sixteen for Honolulu.

No sales of Crown Point in the Board this evening. There were 1,445 shares Jacket and 1,165 Chollar sold. The market is rather weak.

The first cargo of new hay this season sold in the market to-day at $18 ꟑ ton.

At the pacing race at Pacific track to-day Defiance, Wonder, Longfellow, St. Clair and Barney were entered, and all started finely. To the astonishment and disgust of nine-tenths of the crowd, Defiance shut all the others out on the first heat, distancing the field and winning the purse, $500. Time, 2:23.

The real name of the architect who committed suicide last night was Newingham, and he had not been engaged by the City Hall Commissioners, but came with Mr. Laver from New York a few days since to work for him. The report that he had been drinking to excess stated to be incorrect.

The British Benevolent Society has a large attendance at their banquet this evening.

STOCKTON, May 24.—It is reported that an arrangement has been made between the Stockton and Visalia Railroad and the Stockton and Copperopolis Railroad whereby the former company will commence the construction of their road from the town of Peters, 14 miles from here on the Stockton and Copperopolis Railroad. The road will be pushed rapidly forward to completion, under the supervision of the Stockton and Visalia Railroad. Col. J. P. Jackson, contractor of the work, is expected to reach the Stanislaus river before the 1st of October next.

OREGON.

S. C. Simpson has been appointed State Librarian, vice Ryan, deceased.

Congressman Slater will deliver a political speech at La Grande on Saturday next.

Eastern Oregon papers say that the crops in that section will be larger and better than in any previous year.

J. W. Liggett, who was shot and killed on Snake river by Frank McCoy, a few days since, was a citizen of Union county in this State.

The Roseburg Plaindealer of the 19th inst., states that at the Randolph mines times are lively, and a number of companies are at work on the black sand land. Pay dirt has been found and the prospect for the future is good.

According to the Statesman, the P. T. Co. estimate that there are still 50,000 to 60,000 bushels of wheat in the upper Wallamet country to be sent to market. J. V. B. Butler, of Monmouth, who has stored and held wheat for five or six years, lately sold 20,000 bushels.

A meeting was held at La Grande some time ago, to consider the subject of the proposed branch railroad from Salt Lake to Columbia River. A Committee was appointed to prepare a report on the route, with a description of the country and its natural wealth. This Committee has reported, and the report will be printed in pamphlet form. 2,000 copies will be circulated in the Eastern States. The report appears to be a very creditable and useful one.

The Statesman says that the plans for the new M. E. Church at Salem, have not yet arrived from Chicago, where they are being prepared by Mr. Chapman, the celebrated church architect, supposed to be one of the most superior in the country. He has been furnished with full data as to the location and surroundings, and been given to understand the amount of room wanted for various purposes. The style of Trinity Church, Chicago, has been selected for adoption, and the architect is expected to devise a harmonious plan after that style and furnish full specifications of cost for the structure, and for this purpose he has been informed of all items for expense of construction in Oregon.

The following is part of a letter from the Siletz Agency: On account of the lateness in the season at which Gen. Palmer assumed control here, (May 1st) and the almost constant rains since, many of the Indians are behind in seeding their farms and gardens, and the prospects for an abundant crop are not as flattering as might be desired. Much of the soil on the Siletz prairies is a kind of black muck, but for wheat growing it is not a success. It produces a fair crop of oats, potatoes, turnips, carrots and apples, and is also a good grazing country. The Reservation extends about forty miles in length and thirty miles wide. It is bisected by the Siletz river, which is a larger and more rapid stream than the Yamhill. The Reservation is mostly timbered and has a coast line of twenty miles.

PLANTATION BITTERS is the oldest prepared tonic in the world. It was well known in the West India Islands sixty years ago. It was then prepared and sold by one Pedro Mortell, who inherited it from his father, so that it is safe to date its origin back at least one hundred years. The components of which it is composed are precisely the same, save that the present proprietors have added thereto Calisaya or King's Bark, known the world over as possessing the most beneficial tonic properties of any that a kind Providence has provided us.

SEA MOSS FARINE from pure Irish Moss, for Blanc Mange, Puddings, Custards, Creams, &c., &c. The cheapest healthiest and most delicious food in the world.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY is a pleasant remedy for every kind of a cough, cold and irritation of the breathing apparatus. It is a safe remedy; it is a powerful remedy; it is a speedy remedy, it is a remedy that cures.

The Household Tonic.

The efficacy of Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters as a specific for recruiting the enfeebled body and cheering the desponding mind has passed into a proverb. In the United States, where this marvellous tonic has borne down all opposition and eclipsed all rivalry, the demand for it has annually increased in a heavier and heavier ratio for years, until at last, the regular sales of this preparation exceed those of all other stomachics combined. Eminent members of the medical profession and hospital surgeons without number, have candidly admitted that the pharmacopœia of the faculty contains no prescription that produces such beneficial effects in dyspepsia, general debility and nervous diseases, as Hostetter's Bitters. To use the language of a venerable physician of New York: "The Bitters are the purest stimulant and the safest tonic we have. But the uses of the great vegetable antidote are much more comprehensive than such praise would imply. As a preparatory antidote to epidemic disease, a genial stimulant, a promoter of constitutional vigor, an appetizer, a stomachic, and a remedy for nervous debility, no medicinal preparation has ever attained the reputation of Hostetter's Bitters. It is the household tonic of the American people, and in all human probability will be so for centuries to come. The magnates of science recognize its merits; and it is emphatically the medicine of the masses, is proved by its fast and ever increasing sales.

CUSTOM HOUSE AND POST OFFICE.—Gen. John Holman, supervising architect of the public buildings in Oregon, arrived at this city a day or two since, after several months' absence at Washington. He has come out to look after the erection of the custom houses at Portland and Astoria. The money appropriated for these buildings will be to carry forward all the operations of the present year. Gen. Holman, upon his arrival here, called upon Mr. Lambert, contractor for the stone for the Portland custom house, to see when he would be ready to commence delivery of the stone, and Mr. Lambert has promised that the first cargo shall be here within ten days, and that the delivery thereafter shall be as rapid as the wants of the builders shall demand. As soon as the stone shall begin to arrive, a force will resume the construction of the Gen. Holman intends to push the work so as to get the walls up and roof on the present season.

ANIMAL FELLOWSHIP.—A few weeks since some one brought a black bear here from Sitka, which has been kept on the steamship dock most of the time. Mr Thos. Mountain, whose employment is almost constantly on the dock, has a very large dog which he calls "Sailor," and which always accompanies him. This dog and the bear have struck an acquaintance of the most friendly character, and yesterday they vastly amused the spectators on the dock, by engaging in a general rough and tumble frolic which lasted for half an hour, terminating only when both the sportists were thoroughly tired out. This sport was renewed from time to time during the day, never failing to draw a "crowded house." The play was occasionally decidedly rough, though neither of the animals displayed any ill-temper.

MORE ROOM WANTED.—There was considerable "jam" at the steamship dock yesterday among the vessels and steamers that wanted a part of the wharf. The Ajax lay all day outside of the Constantine, and only got a chance to land for discharge of cargo after the John L. Stephens was hauled over to the other side of the dock. The California was taken down to the lumber dock, and at four o'clock the Wright was trying to get her nose in among the bigger vessels at the wharf. This sort of a crowd of vessels has occurred a number of times during the last year. The building of the new docks is opportune.

A NEW ROSE.—A rose bush which has been growing in the garden of Mr. J. B. Congle for some years without blooming, has this spring produced a rose to which florists have not yet been able to give a name. The leaves of the flower at the base are of orange color, and at the tips, the two colors variegated much like the pond lily. It is very odorous, with a touch of musk. The tints are singularly rich. The general appearance of the flower is unlike anything found in our floral gardens, and the question is, have we a new rose among us?

PASSENGER DRIFT.—During the present week, the arrivals of passengers from San Francisco by steamer, have been as follows: Per John L. Stephens, 130; Ajax, 200; Constantine, 170; total 500. About one hundred of these were our own people returning home or people coming on transient business. The others are mostly immigrants and persons from the East who have come to "spy out the land."

SAILING OF STEAMERS POSTPONED.—The steamer California did not sail Tuesday night as was announced. She was lying yesterday alongside the wharf, below the ferry landing, having some repairs made to her machinery. The sailing of the John L. Stephens, for San Francisco, was postponed till 7 o'clock this evening, to complete her cargo.

ARRIVALS.—The steamers Ajax and Constantine both arrived from San Francisco, yesterday morning after our paper had gone to press. The lists of passengers were published two or three days since. The Millie Bond, a small vessel to run between this port and Tillamook, is also among the late arrivals.

THE SOLDIERS' MEETING.—Among others who have consented to make remarks at the approaching meeting of discharged soldiers, on Decoration Day, Gen. E. L. Applegate may be mentioned as a speaker who will be richly worth hearing.

JOHNSON'S ADDITION.—The map of Johnson's Addition—lying west of King's creek—has been recorded in the County Clerk's office. The tract contains two rows of blocks, running southerly from B street.

INDEPENDENT GERMAN SCHOOL PICNIC.—Sunday, June 4th, is the day now fixed upon for the school picnic.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Teams are engaged in hauling tall timber for the railroad bridge at the head of Fourth street.

The Water Company is laying new mains from the engine on the river bank to the reservoir at the foot of Robinson hill.

Mr. J. L. Hallett has the contract for building the new Harrisburg section of the O. & C. railroad.

There was a fine audience at the temperance meeting, at Nonpareil Hall, last evening.

Forty one hundred suits have been commenced before Justice Snyder's court, during this week—so it is stated.

The Wallamet bridge committee will in a short time commence canvassing for subscriptions to the company's stock.

The rowing club which has been just on the point, about twenty-seven times, of getting a shell from various places, is about to get one now from Victoria.

Several members of the San Francisco bar arrived by the late steamers, who are said to be connected with the Elliott-Holladay suit.

Mr. Tilton and his surveying party has returned from Walla Walla, having completed the survey of the railroad line between that place and Wallula.

The suit before Justice Moreland for possession of the International Hotel, promises to be quite a "Jarndyce and Jarndyce" affair in a small way. There is no end in prospect, unless some of the parties should die.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.

REGULAR MEETING, MAY 24, 1871.

Present, His Honor the Mayor, in the chair, and Councilmen Besser, Bills, Breck, Congle, Cree, Hallock, Hill, and Moffett.

PETITIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS.

Petitions were received from Messrs. Dekum & Bickel, F. Henrick, W. G. Glenn and P. Thomas, for use of streets for building purposes or for removal of buildings—granted in each case.

Petitions were received from the following persons for reduction of assessment, or remission of taxes—F. Harbaugh, reduction of assessment, $1,400; J. C. Kingsley, for remission of taxes on steamer Carrie; and Thos. Glennon, for reduction of assessment, $2,000. The petitions were each referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

J. A. Thomas sent in a communication concerning a bill of $2, for setting a pane of glass in an engine house, which the Council had cut down to $1 50. He desired to donate the amount of the bill to the city, and that it should be set apart as a fund for the improvement of the public parks. Communication ordered to be filed.

A communication was received from E. P. Henderson, of Eugene City, relating to Strodun's patent wooden pavement; stating that he is agent for the patentee for Oregon, desiring the city authorities to make a trial of it, and proposing at any time to exhibit a model of it. Referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

Petition from P. J Mann, asking to be compensated at the rate of $50 per month for clerical services in the Police Court, for time prior to the Ordinance authorizing the employment of a clerk. Referred to the Committee of Health and Police.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

The report of the City Surveyor, in the matter of the proposed extension of 12 h street, was received and referred to the Committee on Streets and Public Property.

A communication was received from the Auditor and Clerk reporting, that he had taken no action in the matter of printing an index to codified ordinances, for want of sufficient and definite instructions.

On motion of Mr. Breck the Auditor was instructed not to print.

CLAIMS AGAINST THE CITY.

The following bills were ordered paid: C. H. Myers, lamp posts, lamps, etc., $92 85; Himes & Bachelder, job printing, $13; J. R. Foster, tools for city prisoner, $11 75; T. Patterson & Co., advertising, $67 50.

ORDINANCES.

An ordinance to extend the time of completing the improvement of G street to the 1st of September—read first time.

An ordinance to amend ordinance No. 972, to provide for the improvement of Alder street from Fourth to Tenth—read three times and passed.

AMUSEMENTS.

CIRCUS.—The New York circus will open their season to-night at the Pavillion, corner of Morrison and Fifth streets. This company claims to be composed of a fine array of talent, and knowing many of the performers, we can vouch that the claim is not pretentious. Comfortable arrangements for seating the audience have been made. Reserved chairs may be secured by those who prefer them by application at the Pavillion, to-day.

SKATING.—To-night, there will be a band in attendance at the Rink, and a large crowd may be expected, as has been uniformly the case of late, every band night. The proprietors are introducing marches and figures, performed by skaters, the effect of which is striking and pleasing.

THE SALT LAKE AND COLUMBIA RIVER RAILROAD.

To the incorporators of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad Company—Gentlemen: When late in the month of March last I was appointed by you to take charge of the enterprise and open books for subscription to the capital stock of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad Company, it was known to me, and I suppose to most of you, that my engagements here would require my return by the 1st of May, so allowing only about thirty days for my absence. Opportunities, therefore, for accomplishing much if anything in the East towards the success of the undertaking has been necessarily very limited. It was not even expected that I would reach Washington before the adjournment of Congress, while it was known that our Senators and Representative, under the circumstances, could do nothing for the remainder of the session in the way of obtaining a grant of land.

Until it should be decided what great railroad interest or commercial influence would be our supporters in the enterprise, I deemed it best not to offer the stock for subscription, nor am I fully satisfied that it should be offered or taken until after a grant of land shall be made by Congress. However, if the incorporators or other reliable friends of the enterprise in Oregon or Idaho desire to subscribe for a limited amount of stock as an earnest in the enterprise, or as exerting an influence in its management, I see no reason why they should not be permitted to do so. And I may say further, that so long as the management of the enterprise shall be confided to me, the way will be kept open for a reasonable amount of subscriptions by citizens of Oregon and Idaho.

The friends of the proposed road have never contemplated that it would be constructed without Congressional aid in money or land, however important to us it might be as the direct line of transportation between Portland and the emporium of "The North West," and four fifths of the States. The first and great object then is to obtain Congressional aid. Can we do it? I answer unhesitatingly that we can if we but work as becomes a people engaged in a great and righteous cause.

It was believed here before I left for the East that most of those in the great commercial and railroad interests of the United States labored under an error as to our position relative to those interests, and that if this enterprise could be correctly understood on the Atlantic side that the Portland and Salt Lake Railroad would come to be regarded as the most important enterprise now open west of the Rocky Mountains. In these opinions, from my observations while East, I am confirmed to the fullest extent.

I visited Omaha, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Washington and Philadelphia, and, excepting Washington, two days (Sunday excepted) was the most time spent in either. My interviews were with those who comprehended the situation at a glance; and the experiment of dispelling error and planting the truth, upon which our enterprise so much depends, proved a complete success. And, although the work has been barely begun, with perseverance it will, I am persuaded, result in the success of our enterprise and the commercial supremacy of Portland. But we should not stop here. The labor should be extended until we shall have converted to the truth all with whom it may be our interest to become identified in the flow and current of commerce, nor until our final success in obtaining Congressional aid.

I am advised of the propriety of returning to the Atlantic States early in the Fall—not later than the first of October. In the meantime, certain surveys, and a general map of the line of the road, should be made, and other maps and documents prepared for publication, in a form adapted to the occasion.

And, whether guided by actual observation, or a study of the maps of the great railroad network, the conclusion is irresistible that the Union and Kansas Pacific lines do and will continue to embrace the great commercial flow across the Continent: and, this being so, our accessibility from these lines is indispensable. Connecting with them we connect on the most direct line with the great network from which they spring.

As has been well said, the railroad system of Oregon is being rapidly developed, and we must have the proposed road as the great regulator of that system. Opposition, in my judgment, will be powerless for harm if we but avail ourselves of advantages already gained.

Now, if the citizens of Oregon and Idaho do so appreciate the value of the proposed road as to make the enterprise a matter of business until the end of the next session of Congress, I doubt not it will prove a grand success. But I submit, gentlemen, that it will be necessary to provide funds to defray the expenses necessary to be incurred in carrying out the plan I have suggested, which should be done with as little delay as possible. Respectfully,

W. W. CHAPMAN.

RESOLUTIONS.

The following resolutions were then offered and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, By the incorporators of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad Co., that we extend to Col. Chapman our sincere thanks for the able manner in which he has promoted our interests in the East, and that he brings us reasonable assurance that the road will be constructed.

Resolved, That the sum of ten thousand dollars be raised by contribution for the purpose of defraying the necessary expense of surveys, maps, documents and for the expense of an agent in hereafter prosecuting the enterprise of the Portland, Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad, and that the Committee on Finance be requested to raise the sum of five thousand dollars from the citizens of Portland and vicinity for that purpose.

Resolved, That the Committee on Correspondence be requested to correspond with the citizens of the Dalles, Umatilla, La Grande, Baker City, Boise City and other points on the proposed road, advising them of the action taken by this meeting and requesting their co-operation in furnishing the funds to defray the necessary expenses.

On motion the meeting adjourned, subject to the call of the President.

DECISION IN THE BIRD HABEAS CORPUS CASE

BY JUDGE DEADY

Where by the sentence of a court martial a soldier is discharged from the service before the expiration of his term of enlistment, and such sentence is afterward set aside as null and void the status of such soldier is not affected in any way by such sentence, and he is deemed to have been in the service all the time between the sentence and the order setting it aside

Under art of war 88 it appears that a soldier may be arrested and tried after the expiration of his term of service, for a military offence committed during such term of service, so that the order for the court martial is issued within two years from the commission of such offence

In any view of the matter a soldier may be held for trial after the term of his enlistment, by military authority if arrested for the offence before the expiration of his term of service

The petitioner while in fact discharged from the army, but before the expiration of his term of enlistment, having committed a homicide might be arrested and held for trial therefor by the military authority —the discharge being after ward set aside as null and void, and the petitioner being at the time a soldier de jure

[illegible] States District Court for the District [illegible] Wednesday May 24, 1871

[illegible] William B, Bird,—On writ [illegible] habeas corpus

[illegible] he writ was filed May 8 1871, [illegible] day an order was made allowing [illegible] returnable before the Judge [illegible] May 11 In the petition it is alleged [illegible] petitioner is confined in Multnomah county by one James H Lappeus, Chief [illegible] of Portland, for the purpose [illegible] Military Department [illegible] the Columbia [illegible] transport petitioner to Alaska, [illegible] pretence that a crime has been committed by the petitioner against the rules and regulations [illegible] the army of the United States and that [illegible] imprisonment of petitioner is illegal in that [illegible] is a citizen of the United States and [illegible] amenable to said rules and regulations

[illegible] respondent Lappeus produced the body [illegible] as commanded by the writ, and [illegible] hereto, stating that the petitioner was [illegible] his custody on May 7, 1871, by one Lieutenant Dennison of the army of the United States and the cause of his imprisonment [illegible]

Thereupon [illegible] appearing from the return of said Lappeus that the petitioner was [illegible] in the custody of the military [illegible] Department of the Columbia and [illegible] Lappeus only held said petitioner [illegible] as a jailor [illegible] that petitioner [illegible] writ return [illegible] commanding the Department [illegible] twenty four hours [illegible] [illegible] proper and that he proceed [illegible] May 1[illegible]

[illegible] May [illegible] the parties [illegible] appeared and also the General commanding the department by Louis [illegible] who then stated in writing that petitioner was a soldier of the army of the United States and in the lawful custody of the military authority of this department, and as such was held for violations of the rules and regulations for the government of the army, and that since May [illegible] respondent Lappeus only held petitioner because of the writ therein On the same day the petitioner demurred to the returns to the writ as insufficient in law to justify the detention.

Thereupon an order was made transferring the custody of the petitioner [illegible] the authority of the General commanding the department of the Columbia to be by him and those acting under his orders [illegible] kept within the jurisdiction of [illegible] and produced before the judge thereof on May [illegible] and that said General then make a return [illegible] in due form, of the causes and reasons [illegible] detaining the petitioner in custody

On May 18 respondent Canby filed an answer [illegible] the petition and the petitioner replied thereto [illegible] May [illegible] the cause was argued and submitted upon the answer and reply [illegible] and exhibits thereto and taken under advisement From these it appears

I That William [illegible] Bird the petitioner was duly enlisted as a private [illegible] army of the United States on June 15, 1867 [illegible] serve [illegible] period of three years

II That at the post [illegible] the Alaska [illegible] the sentence of a court martial convened [illegible] in pursuance of special [illegible] No 70 dated October 14 1869 the petitioner then being a private in battery H second artillery was sentenced to three months hard labor and [illegible] dishonorably discharged from the army and that about January 23 petitioner was [illegible] discharged [illegible] the post aforesaid

III That the petitioner was [illegible] before said court martial upon two charges and sundry specifications thereunder [illegible] said petitioner [illegible] about September [illegible] refused to be sworn or testify as a witness before a [illegible] ard of [illegible] convened at the post aforesaid to investigate certain accusations against sundry citizens and enlisted men and that on October 18, 1869, he wrote a disrespectful letter to his department commander General [illegible] Davis

IV On the trial at Sitka aforesaid the petitioner made the preliminary objection that the court martial could not [illegible] take cognizance of the charges against him because [illegible] was convened by said Davis who was also his accuser and on September 24 [illegible] the Secretary of War, upon the report and [illegible] the Judge Advocate General sustained the objection, and set aside the sentence of the court as illegal and void, on that account and also directed that the petitioner be brought to trial on a charge of manslaughter to the prejudice of good order and military discipline committed [illegible] the killing of Lieutenant [illegible] Cowan [illegible] United States [illegible] as hereinafter stated, and after wards [illegible] November 1[illegible] the petitioner, by special order No [illegible] of Headquarters Department of the Columbia in pursuance of the aforesaid order of the Secretary of War, was restored to his rights duties and obligations as a soldier as if no such proceedings had been taken, and as of the date of the order appointing the court to wit October [illegible] 1869

V That on March 9 1870 by the verbal order of said Davis to Captain Brady, commanding post of Sitka the petitioner was arrested and confined at said post upon the charge of killing said Cowan which order was, on June 14, 1870 confirmed and continued by a written order from said Davis to said Brady, instructing the latter to retain petitioner in custody until further instructions [illegible] the proper authority," and as appears from the report of a board of officers, convened at the post aforesaid, on March 10, [illegible] the petitioner on the night of February [illegible] 1870 [illegible] an unlawful attempt to take the [illegible] former company commander, Capt Dennison [illegible] saloon at Sitka, shot and killed said [illegible] under circumstances which "showed a perfect [illegible] of human life," and constituted a [illegible] case of manslaughter

VI That a court martial convened at Sitka about [illegible] November 30 1870, pursuant to special orders No [illegible] of Headquarters of the Department of the Columbia and afterwards adjourned to Fort Vancouver Washington Territory, the petitioner was tried and found guilty of the charge of murder to the prejudice of good order and military discipline committed in the killing of Lieutenant Cowan as aforesaid, and by said court was among other things sentenced to be dishonorably discharged from the service of the United States and to be confined at hard labor for the period of [illegible] years in such penitentiary as the commanding general may designate, and on [illegible], 1871, said sentence was approved by the General commanding the Department of the Columbia and ordered to be executed at Alcatraz Island, in the harbor of San Francisco, until otherwise ordered by the Secretary of War

[illegible] general court martial orders No [illegible] dated April 11, 1871, the proceedings of the court martial last aforesaid were "set aside as null and void for the reason that murder, being a capital crime, is not legally cognizable by a court [illegible]" Such order also stated and directed [illegible] follows— "Moreover, the facts disclosed in the [illegible] show that the homicide was committed in a saloon in the town of Sitka, when the prisoner was de facto a citizen, and held no such practical relations to the military service as to connect his acts with its good order or discipline The prisoner will be turned over for trial to the Federal Judiciary," and that in pursuance of [illegible] order the petitioner at the time of the allowance and service of the writ, was being conveyed to Washington Territory by Lieutenant Dennison aforesaid, to be there turned over to the United States Courts, for trial therein upon said charge of murder

Two principal questions arise in this case and were argued by counsel

(1) Was the petitioner a soldier on February 2[illegible] 1870, when he committed the homicide at Sitka and (2) can a soldier be detained in custody by the military authority, for trial or lawful disposition after his term of service expires, on account of an act committed during such service?

Upon authority and the plainest reason both [illegible] questions must be answered in the affirmative The sentence of the court martial dishonorably discharging the petitioner from the service was set aside as null and void, because of the want of jurisdiction in the Court The proceedings of the Court having been declared by competent authority to have been void ab initio, in contemplation of law, the status of the petitioner was not changed in any particular by reason of it This conclusion necessarily follows from the premises The proposition is so axiomatic that it scarcely admits of argument and needs only to be stated for the truth of it to be perceived The same rule obtains in relation to the proceedings of all courts—civil as well as military A void judgment or sentence works no change in the status of the person or thing against or concerning which it is given or pronounced

A sentence of divorce passed in an inferior court, which is afterward set aside as null and void on appeal, would not affect the status of the parties thereto They would still be husband and wife, the same as if the sentence of the inferior court had never been pronounced and that too during all the period between such sentence and its reversal

A judgment convicting a party of a felony, when reversed for error, is considered as never having been given, and does not affect the rights or liabilities of such party although he may have been imprisoned under it during the interval between its rendition and reversal It may be said that in some instances this rule works hardly, but the subject admits of no other, and in the great majority of cases it is well adapted to the ends of justice Upon a second conviction, the punishment upon the first and erroneous one can and should be taken into consideration Besides, it must be born in mind, that the reversal is procured by the party affected by the judgment or sentence and for his benefit If the petitioner had not procured the reversal of the sentence discharging him from the service, his subjection to military authority growing out of his enlistment on June 15, 1867, would have then ceased But having procured that sentence to be set aside, upon the allegation not merely that it was erroneous, but null and void, it does not lie in his mouth to say that nevertheless the discharge given in pursuance and execution of it was valid and terminated his contract of enlistment months before the expiration of his term

True, it may be, as stated in general court martial order No 3, that the petitioner at the date of the homicide was a citizen de facto, but it is equally true and more material, as now known, that he was at the same time a soldier de jure Being a citizen de facto is nothing more than acting and living as a citizen for the time being for any reason This might be a good cause, as suggested in said order, why proceedings for the military offence of manslaughter to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, committed by the act of unlawful killing, should be postponed or suspended until the petitioner had been proceeded against in the civil courts, for the great er and graver offence of murder, committed by means of the same act

I have no doubt but that the petitioner was a soldier at the date of the killing of Lieutenant Cowan, and as such liable to be arrested, tried and punished by military authority for any military offence committed by the same act

As to the second question Art of war, 88, provides that —"No person shall be liable to be tried and punished by a general court martial for any offence which shall appear to have been committed more than two years before the issuing of the order for such trial, unless," etc

Congress has full power "to make rules for the government of the land and naval forces" (Con, Art I Sec 8)

This Art of war is a statute of limitations in case of proceedings to punish persons for offences "arising in the land [illegible] forces" As at present advised, I do not see what provision of the Constitution or statute or principle of common law can be invoked to prevent the arrest and trial of a person by court martial for a military offence, committed while such person was an officer or soldier of the army of the United States, after the expiration of the term of service, so that the order for the trial is issued within the time limited by the Art. of war And so in principle it seems to have been held in the case of Lord George Sackville as reported by Tytler in his treatise on court martials

In that case it appeared that as the defendant had been dismissed from His Majesty's service previously to the prosecution against him it was doubted under the mutiny act, whether he was subject to the jurisdiction of the court upon which that question was referred to the twelve judges, who certified that under the circumstances of the case they saw no reason to doubt the jurisdiction of the court martial

In Re William Walker decided by Mr Justice [illegible] ilde of the Supreme Court of Mass, and after consultation with and with the concurrence of his other judges and reported in Am Jur, April No 1830, it was held that a seaman who had committed a naval offence and had been arrested therefor on the day preceding the expiration of his term of service, might be detained for trial and punishment after the expiration of such term In the course of the opinion the learned Judge cites the case of Sackville cited, supra, with approval, and upon the general question says "It is true that a seaman is not bound to do service after the term of his enlistment But within that term he is bound to observe the rules and regulations provided for the government of the navy, and is punishable for all crimes and offences committed in violation of them during his term of service. There is no limitation of time within which he is to be prosecuted and tried for such offences, but if there were, it would be sufficient to show that the prosecution was commenced within the time of limitation"

It is proper to note that there was an arrest and charges preferred in this case during the term of service, and that the conclusion reached was therefore irrespective of the question whether the seaman was liable to arrest and prosecution after his discharge from the service for an offence committed prior thereto; but the citation from the opinion as well as the case of Sackville, goes to sustain the jurisdiction of the naval authority to arrest and try the offender as well after the discharge from service as before.

Neither is it necessary to absolutely decide that question in this case For the fact is, the petitioner was arrested for the commission of two distinct military offenses before the expiration of his term of enlistment, and so far as I can perceive, both are still pending and undisposed of An arrest for the purpose of trial is a commencement of a prosecution, without reference to the time when a formal accusation is preferred. The jurisdiction to try and punish attaches upon the arrest It is true that there has been a trial on both of the accusations in this case, but the proceedings having been set aside as null and void at the instance and for the benefit of the petitioner, are to be regarded, so far as this question is concerned, as if they had never taken place It is also true that the highest military authority has directed that the petitioner be turned over to the proper civil authority for trial upon the charge of murder, but this direction, as I understand it, only suspends the prosecution for the military offense, which may be still carried on to a final determination for any reason satisfactory to the War Department, by the issuing of an order conveying a court martial for that purpose within two years from the commission of the offenses respectively

During this period for aught that has been shown or occurs to me, the petitioner may be lawfully detained in the custody of the military authority for trial by court-martial or delivery to the civil authorities under Art of war 33, as under all the circumstances may be deemed proper and best If there is unnecessary delay, error of conduct or abuse of power on the part of the military subordinates charged with the conduct of these affairs, the remedy is within the military department and not without it,—by appeal or petition to the higher authorities The Constitution and laws of Congress have entrusted this power to the military authority, for the good of the service, as necessary to maintain the discipline and efficiency of the army The delays and mistakes which appear to have occurred in the disposition of the charges against the petitioner are common to like proceedings in all human tribunals. The petitioner voluntarily entered the army and must submit to the necessary consequences of that act and the relation created thereby

In this view of the matter it is unnecessary to consider whether the petitioner is held in custody merely for the purpose of being turned over to the civil authority, or whether it is proposed to turn him over to the proper civil authority or not For his conduct in these particulars the respondent is only responsible to his military superiors and to the military law The order to deliver the petitioner to the civil authority may be countermanded to morrow, and it would be the duty of the respondent to act accordingly No application has been or can be made for the delivery of the petitioner by or on behalf of the party injured as specially provided in Art 33 His voice is hushed in the silence of the grave upon the distant and unknown shore of Alaska The delivery of the petitioner to the civil authority must ultimately depend upon the fact of an application by some public officer or body entitled to prosecute for offenses against the particular civil society injured by the act of the petitioner

Upon deliberate reflection and consideration, I see no reason to question the authority of the respondent to detain the petitioner in custody as a person amenable to military law upon the charge preferred at Alaska in 1869, as well as the military offense of manslaughter "to the prejudice of good order and discipline" committed in the killing of Lieutenant Cowan

Let the petition be dismissed and the petitioner remanded to the custody of the respondent.
